A GLANCE UP TO THE LOFT OF THE ORLEANS MILL SHOWS THE WOODEN GEAR DRIVEN BY THE SPOKES OF THE WHEEL ATTACHED TO THE SHAFT WHICH IS TURNED BY THE VANES. IT TAKES A 15 KNOT BREEZE TO DRIVE THIS MASSIVE WHEEL, BUT IT DOES THE JOB AS IT HAS FOR 182 YEARS AND DOES IT AT NO COST.

Heritage Plantation

Most museums are pleasant and informative ways to spend an inclement leisure day. Heritage Plantation in Sandwich is an exception. It's an in and out museum with as much beauty and interest in the rolling grounds as under cover. It offers a varied smorgasborg of pleasures to appeal to a variety of ages and tastes. Centerpiece of its delights is the round barn which is a reproduction of a Shaker structure designed to hold 52 head of cattle. Instead of cattle, the museum houses its unique collection of 30 antique automobiles that gleam and sparkle with beauty. The collection spans the years from 1899 to 1967 and includes the great names of the industry and all restored to mint condition.

The windmill on our cover is a true Cape Cod antique. Wind power, a source that is receiving renewed interest today, was once a common resource exploited by the natives of the Cape. This old mill was built in Orleans in 1800 and ground that town's grain for 93 years. Now restored and relocated at the museum in Sandwich it still grinds grain by wind power or, on windless days, by a hidden motor.

The connection between the exhibits are walkways of spectacular beauty on grounds that once were a 1686 farm, "Shawme Farm". The shrubs, trees, ground cover are all labeled so that a walker can identify the natural beauty that surrounds the visitor on every side. Rhododendrons of every variety abound as a result of years of hybridizing by Charles O. Dexter. In Rhododendron season, there is color of every hue on every side.

The Military Museum houses early American handguns, rifles and artillery in scaled down replicas as well as 2000 handpainted military miniatures in settings to depict American military units from 1620 to 1900. United States flag reproductions show the variety and development of U.S. flag design through the years.

The third major exhibit of the museum is the Arts and Crafts building. A delight for all is the glassed-in carousel which originated in Riverside, Rhode Island, built in 1912 by Charles I.D. Looff, known for building the first Coney Island carousel in 1876. The "merry go round" is as it was when brand new. The horses have been restored to perfection and it is an exhibit that is running on a regular schedule into nostalgia. Visitors of all ages ride this beautiful circular parade to the music of the carousel organ. Currier and Ives lithographs, 150 of them showing events from America's past, Early American tools, American folk art and special rotating exhibits, are also housed in this building.

The Heritage Plantation truly blends the past with the present and makes the ingenuity and beauty of the past so accessible to us. We have made much progress and have new conveniences and wonders available to us that would astound our predecessors. However, they, in their own time, had their own skills and surrounded themselves with hand craftsmanship that is now a disappearing art. These wonders astound us.

Truly, this inside/outside museum is one of the great experiences of anyone's summer. We recommend it with every confidence that it will hold a delight for every taste both inside and outside. There is so much to enjoy. Plan enough time to do it leisurely.

Selectmen's Meeting

ASSESSORS ON TAX BILLS

Mattapoisett Assessors John Gibbons, Bruce Rocha and Walter Apperson met with Selectmen to discuss the new State statute Chapter 336 of 1982 that would allow them to send out estimated tax bills and thus avoid the town's borrowing at high interest for revenue. Mr. Rocha told Selectmen that they had submitted an application to the state and and would go to Boston to follow up on it. The Assessors said that Mattapoisett is one of 250 out of 361 communities in the state faced with the problem. The problem originated because Mattapoisett complied with a Massachusetts deadline to revalue the town before the state legislature rewrote the law making that revaluation obsolete. A new valuation is necessary to be computerized for update periodically.

SPRAYING DUE

John Denham alerted Selectmen to the fact that the Fall webworm has become an active pest in various parts of the town such as Aucoot, Mattapoisett Neck, Brandt Island, Acushnet Road and Tinkhamtown. Mr. Denham said that he had enough material on hand to spray for 2 days. Selectmen determined that it would allay the problem and told Mr. Denham to proceed with the treatment.

The County has informed Selectmen that a mosquito spray will be accomplished within

DOG OFFICER RESIGNS

James Sullivan turned in his equipment to Selectmen after tendering a resignation as dog officer. He said that he had enjoyed serving the town and would like to serve again in the same or another post. He has been dog officer since 1979.

Mr. Sullivan said that his resignation was given because he felt that it interfered with his right to bear arms. He will now apply for a license to carry a pistol as a private citizen so that he can hunt, target shoot, and for self-protection. He said that as dog officer his "right to carry" had been limited specifically to the duty of dog officer. He said he felt that limitation threatened his right to a hunting license.

Selectmen thanked Sullivan for his service and invited persons interested in the dog officer post to contact the Selectmen's Office.

LIQUOR LICENSE HEARING

A public hearing was held on the application of Richard and Patricia Padelford of 58 Fairhaven Road for a beer and wine license. The Padelfords explained that they would like to open a convenience store on Fairhaven Road in the building formerly Neil's Meat Market. They said it would be a 7 day a week family run operation. Selectman James Huntoon asked if the license was vital to the opening of the business. Padelford said that they would not open the store without it as it would give the neces-

Selectmen were not impressed with a letter from Senator Edward Kennedy in answer to their request for help in returning Route 6 to 4 lanes of traffic as it was before the resurfacing. When you think of owning a new car is this the new car you think of owning?

A lot of people take one look at the rates for an auto loan and say, forget it. But here at Fairhaven Savings the rates are the lowest they've been in months, so maybe you can afford the car you really want.

Particularly since we ask for only 20% down. As opposed to 30% at many other places. And you have four years to pay. Not three. Once you have filled out the application, you can get the cash in 24 hours. We even have a telephone hotline to call to get the wheels turning. Call 999-7000.

Look at it this way. Now that Fairhaven has brought down the rates, all you have to do is come up with the car.

The Junior Miss Scholarship Program is a nationwide program to recognize, reward and encourage excellence in our young people. Each year since 1958 it has selected the outstanding high school senior girls from among thousands who take part in all 50 states. Local Junior Miss winners advance to state competitions which determine the candidates for the national title.

Junior Miss is not a beauty contest. Junior Miss seeks the total girl, the wholesome, intelligent, involved individual any would be proud to have as a daughter.

Judging at all levels - local, state and national is based on scholastic achievement, poise and appearance, physical well-being and contributions to family and community.

Capeway Softball

In Capeway Softball League play on Sunday, August 15th, results were as follows:

Mattapoisett Inn took 2 games from Mattapoisett 3. In the first game Mark Goddu of the Inn hit 2 homeruns; Bruce Mathieson of Mattapoisett 3 made 2 costly errors that cost the 3 team the ball game. The final score was 10 to 9.

In the second game Mattapoisett Inn jumped to a 7-0 lead in the first inning on a lot of infield errors. Mike Heath and Robert Randall of the 3 team made a last chance effort to catch up with key hits but it wasn't enough. Bruce Mathieson took his second straight loss. The final score was 12-7.

Root's took 2 games from third place Short Wave. Short Wave lost most of its power to a tournament in Marion. Root's has clinched second place.

Mahoney's forfeited 2 more games, this week against Brad's, making it 4 overall this season.

Nighthawk Migration Watch

The Massachusetts Audubon Society is conducting a Nighthawk Migration Watch from August 20 to September 7. Each fall, nighthawks migrate through New England on their way to wintering grounds in South America. The majority of the nighthawks will pass through from August 27 to September 3. The purpose of the watch is to gather information about nighthawk migration.

Nighthawks are medium-sized birds about the size of robins. They are blackish-brown, have a white throat and a bold white slash near the tip of their long, slender wings. Nighthawks have a characteristic flight; they bound and swoop erratically, frequently uttering their distinctive call - a nasal "peent".

On warm summer evenings in mid-August, the first of a steady procession of migrating nighthawks begins to thread its way south. They are often seen flying over the tree tops or near water. In the Greater Boston area, nighthawks might be familiar to devotees of night games at Fenway Park, or at the tennis matches at Longwood in Brookline where these birds can be seen hawking around the lights for insects.

The Nighthawk Migration Watch was established to answer specific questions about migration. These questions include the effects of weather on the birds' migration, and the distribution of migrant nighthawks in Massachusetts. Those interested in participating in the Watch can obtain report forms and more information by calling 259-9500, X265.

SEPTIC SYSTEM MAINTENANCE

FINDING YOUR SEPTIC SYSTEM

In order to take proper care of your septic system the homeowner must know where it is located. If the access manholes are at ground level, this is no problem. Unfortunately, however, the manholes are often buried somewhere under the lawn. To locate the tank, go into the basement and find where and in what direction the sewer pipe goes through the basement wall. Check the lawn in that area for places where the grass will not grow or for areas that are slightly

For recently installed or repaired systems, the local Board of Health should have a plan that shows the general location of the system.

Once a buried manhole has been located it should be marked. It can be marked with a stake, bird feeder, birdbath, etc., or record its location on the basement wall.

Entertainment Festival

"SINGING SKIES & DANCING WATERS"

A week-long entertainment festival called "Singing Skies and Dancing Waters" is being held this week each evening at 8 p.m. in Buttonwood Park. Live groups and concerts are performed against a backdrop of water jets that "dance" to the on-stage sound.

The week opened with the Tavares Brothers on Monday, a nationally-known rock group originally from New Bedford.

On Tuesday, the Copy Kittens brought to the grassy outdoor concert hall the likes of Linda Ronstadt, Dolly Parton, Bette Midler and Barbara Streisand, as well as the popular groups of today, with their lip synch

Teaching the Gifted

LOCAL EDUCATOR PARTICIPANT IN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Educating gifted and talented children is the focus of an international conference now underway at the University of Connecticut in Storrs and being attended by Pat Sylvia of Center School, Mattapoisett.

Dubbed "Confratute", the conference/institute, now in its fifth year, is sponsored jointly by the University of Connecticut and the Connecticut Department of Education. Under the direction of Dr. Joseph S. Renzulli, Confratute brings together some of the world's most prominent leaders in gifted education for small, intensive workshop sessions and major presentations made to the collective body of participants -- a total this year of some 357 teachers and school administrators, from as far away as Guam, Indonesia, and western Australia.

Topics for the two-week Confratute span a wide range including the identification of gifted and talented children as well as appropriate programming for them. Special sessions will address learning and teaching styles; science for the gifted; philosophy for children; evaluation of gifted programs; ad-

Natural Family Planning

A new series of Natural Family Planning classes will begin on Friday, August 20, at 8 p.m. in the Parish Hall of Saints Martha and Mary Church, Bedford Street, Lakeville. Couples, both married and engaged, are particularly encouraged to register for the four session course.

Natural Methods of family planning are applicable to all women -- with regular or irregular menstrual cycles; after stopping the Pill or other contraceptives; in the pre-menopausal period; and with post-partum or nursing mothers.

The classes will discuss all Natural Methods which can be used for those wishing to avoid or achieve a pregnancy. This is not calendar rhythm, but the latest techniques designed to identify the day of ovulation and those several days before and after ovulation when conception is possible.

There are no adverse side effects to the method, which when used properly is as effective as any method of birth control.

PLATE TECTONICS DISPLAY FROM CHEVRON FEATURED AT WHOI EXHIBIT CENTER

Our changing earth is the focus of a plate tectonics exhibit now on display at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution's Exhibit Center. The summer Exhibit Center, located at 15 School Street, is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. through September 4. There is no admission charge.

The plate tectonics exhibit was recently given to the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution by Chevron U.S.A. Inc., a division of Standard Oil Company of California. Its pieces are replicas of a plate tectonics display featured in the Chevron-sponsored "Creativity - The Human Resource" exhibit that has toured the United States since 1979 in celebration of Chevron's 100th birthday. Superimposed plexiglass panels on one portion of the display depict bathymetry, magnetism, and earthquake epicenters for the world oceans. A second portion of the plate tectonics exhibit provides a viewer-revolved wheel which demonstrates sea floor spreading. Visitors to the Insti

Visitors to the Institution Exhibit Center can watch a 10-minute color videotape introducing the Institution and view displays on the recently discovered unusual animal communities at sea floor spreading centers, red tide, Gulf Stream rings, marine mammals, petrochemical pollution in coastal areas, and salmonid ecology and sea ranching of brook trout. From Coast Guard

AIDS TO NAVIGATION WARNING

A word of caution from the Coast Guard to those boaters who rely too heavily on the accuracy of certain floating aids to navigation, Don't ! Although the Coast Guard and other agencies maintain buoys to assist boaters in determining their positions, the boater should not rely completely on the accuracy of the position of floating aids to navigation for several reasons.

First of all, buoys are represented as dots and circles on charts and these symbols show only approximate positions. These positions cannot be completely relied upon because of possible weather-related changes in the buoy's position, prevailing wind and sea conditions, as well as the slope and makeup of the sea bed.

Also, the physical characteristics and maintenance of buoys can cause discrepancies in their positions. Buoys are typically moored to anchors on the sea bed with varying lengths of chain which will cause some variance with the changing of the tides. It is not unusual for a deep-set buoy to move 100 feet from maximum flow of incoming tide to maximum flow of ebb tide. Buoys occasionally shift positions during storms or unusually strong currents. They may also be sunk or be damaged by vandalism or by collisions. All these factors can affect the sound and visual signals on the buoys as well.

With these limitations in mind, boaters should always use other data to properly determine their position. The greatest accuracy can be obtained from using bearings (angles) to fixed landmarks or aids to navigation on shore.

Additionally there are a couple of rules to remember when it comes to navigational aids:

1. Boats passing close to buoys, especially in rough water, run the risk of collision with a yawing buoy or running aground on the obstruction it marks.

2. It is against the law to secure a vessel to a navigational aid. A boat tied to a buoy obstructs it from sight of other boaters. The boat is also subject to erratic movements from the pull of the moving buoy which could cause someone to fall overboard.

HARRY SPIERS PAINTINGS

A third mini-exhibit, "The Paintings of Harry Spiers", opened Friday, August 6, and will run through Thursday, September 9th, in the Old Barn Gallery at Heritage Plantation of Sandwich.

A collection of 20 watercolor landscapes clearly depicts Spiers' fondness for trees and sky. One critic observed that although his media was always watercolor, his paintings frequently had the look of tempera an oil while at other times they resembled charcoal or pastel drawings.

England, October 15, 1871. Although his education was originally directed toward medicine, he gradually turned to a career in art. After studying in Canada and Paris, Spiers moved to the United States and settled in Dedham. For more than thirty-five years he toured New England seeking subjects for his palette. Frequently his travels brought him to Cape Cod where he was especially fond of Provincetown and Truro.

Heritage Plantation is pleased to present this exhibition of the works of Harry Spiers, made possible through the courtesy of Dr. and Mrs. Seppo E. Rapo of Centerville. Mrs. Rapo is the artist's granddaughter.

THE BEST OF BLUEGRASS AT HERITAGE

Joe Val and the New England Bluegrass Boys will present old fashioned bluegrass music at its very best at Heritage Plantation of Sandwich on Cape Cod Saturday, August 28, at 7:30 p.m. You know the type: the mandolin and banjo pickers strain to get every ounce of tone out of their instruments, the guitarist slaps out his runs while the bass player pumps out a rhythm moving everyone along, and the lead and tenor belt those piercing notes a key or two above where they thought their range ended.

Val has long been recognized as one of the nation's greatest high tenor singers in the classic bluegrass tradition. Since 1969, he has led the New England Bluegrass Boys, and has recorded five highly acclaimed albums for Rounder Records including their latest "Sparkling Brown Eyes". One reviewer wrote "(Joe's) voice is better than ever, perhaps richer and fuller from years of performing...the essence of bluegrass--powerful, gutsy stuff."

The group recently made an appearance on the 1982 WSM/Grand Ole Opry Country Music Fan Fair in Nashville, Tennessee. The Bluegrass Boys have made regular appearances on National Public Radio's "A Prairie Home Companion", a weekly variety show with over a million listeners.

Val began his professional career in the 1950's with the Radio Rangers, playing on WCOP's Hayloft Jamboree in Boston. Dave Haney has played guitar with the New England Bluegrass Boys since early 1981, and is also the group's manager. Twenty-year old Karl Lauber became the group's banjo player in autumn, 1981. Eric Levenson, who has played and recorded with several well-known New England bands, became Val's bass player in 1976.

The performance at Heritage Plantation has been funded in part by a grant from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency whose funds are recommended by the governor and appropriated by the state legislature and the New England Foundation on the Arts.

Membership as well as admission tickets to Heritage for the day will be honored for the concert and will include admission to all of the museum buildings, exhibitions and grounds.

Heritage Plantation is 3 miles from the Cape Cod Sagamore Bridge and is less than one mile from the Old Town Hall in Sandwich up Grove Street off Route 130.
